The service was fully choral, and there was a large congregation, for the event had been looked forward to with considerable interest in the village. The bride, who was given away by her father, was dressed in a cream, soft silk costume, trimmed with lace and insertion, and she wore a cream tucked chiffon hat, with plumes; her only ornament was a handsome gold chain, the gift of her father, and she carried a lovely shower bouquet. Miss Maggie Staley (sister of the bride) and Miss Edie Lomas, of Pilsley (cousin of the bridegroom) acted as bridesmaids, being prettily attired in pink cashmere dresses, trimmed with cream silk and insertion, with pink Tuscan hats adorned with black roses and velvets. They wore gold brooches, and carried shower bouquets. Mr Geo. Staley was the best man. The first hymn was "The voice that breathed o'er Eden", and afterwards the choir very nicely sang "Thine for ever." Mr W.Clarke-Taylor, the choir-master and organist, played several appropriate pieces, including Mendelssohn's "Wedding March". A large company sat down to the wedding breakfast, and on Thursday and Friday the bride's mother held receptions for other friends and members of the choir, to whom the bride herself belonged for some years. advisability of paying still more attention to this class of stock. Eggs have been dearer this summer than I ever remember, and are likely to remain so in the future, as the public is getting tired of the “cheap and nasty” foreign product. If the farmers would combine a little more like other businesses, we should be in a better position, both for the selling of our produce and the purchase of our feeding stuffs.

In these days of close competition it does not do for the farmer to allow all the world to combine and he himself stand alone. If a man buys well and sells well he will be able to keep his head above adversity, but should he buy in a dear market and sell in a cheap one, there is nothing but poverty in store for him.

An auction sale was held by Mr Joseph Hodgkinson, at the George and Dragon Inn, Tansley, on Wednesday evening, when three lots of property were offered, under instructions from Messrs Thomas and George Taylor (trustees of Mr Timothy Taylor, deceased). Two gritstone-built and blue-slatted cottages, now in the occupation of Mr Walter Twigg and Mr Thomas Watts, was the first lot offered, and this was withdrawn at £240. Lot 2, two substantial gritstone-built and blue-slatted cottages, now in the respective occupation of Messrs F.Dennis and J.H.Jepson, together with the dwelling-house and grocer’s shop adjoining, now occupied by Mrs Oscroft, was sold to that lady for £320.

Two other cottages, situate in Church Street, Tansley, occupied by Messrs. Ellis and Marsden, were withdrawn at £175.

A good company was present, and for the second lot bidding was brisk. Mr James Potter was solicitor for the vendors.

GLEANINGS IN THE PEAK AND WEST DERBYSHIRE

The Tansley Juvenile Branch of the Oddfellows held their anniversary on Saturday last. They paraded the village, headed by the Masson Mills Band, and then returned to the National Schools for tea. In the evening the Band played on the Green, and a very enjoyable time was spent by the large gathering of inhabitants.

A correspondent from Tansley sends me a good story. A few farmers had reached home, or thereabout, from Bakewell market, and having presumably had a good day, were making merry in the evening hours. But larking ended in an exhibition of fisticuffs - one well-known farmer, who fancies his abilities as a boxer, having a round or two with one of his oldest and dearest friends. Nobody was badly hurt, however, and the friends have "made it up" after the orthodox fashion.

TANSLEY.
Disposal of the Coronation Fund Surplus.
Proposed Parochial Institute.

A public meeting was held at the National Schools, Tansley, on Friday August 22nd, to consider the disposal of the balance in hand from the Coronation funds. There was a very good attendance. Mr J.H.Scholes, Chairman of the Celebrations Committee, was away on holidays; the Rev J.Brodie Mais could not attend the meeting; and Mr Thos. MacMunn was voted to the chair, others present including Councillors Sydney Smith, T.Taylor (Heathy Lea), J.Arrow Smith and W.Clarke Taylor, who was hon. secretary to the Celebrations Committee.

The Chairman explained the object of the meeting. At the commencement of the Coronation festivities it was intended by the Committee that there should be something of a permanent character to commemorate the accession of the King.

For many years a reading room has been carried on in the Infant Schoolroom during the winter months, vis., October to March, under the direction of Mr MacMunn and a few friends, but the accommodation was very inadequate.

Mr W.Clarke Taylor pointed out that the village possessed a suitable building, which had been empty for some years. It was suggested that this should be turned into a public reading room or something of the sort, and he spoke of inquiries made by himself, which went to show that the premises could be obtained for such a purpose.

After some discussion, a resolution was adopted, on the motion of Mr Clarke Taylor is interesting himself in the matter, and negotiations for the turnover of the building are being made. I have no doubt the Parish Council will readily agree to the public meeting a requisition. The building is substantial, well situated, and spacious, with ample cellarage and a good lawn at the rear. Very little cost will be necessary to make it into comfortable quarters, and there are hopes in a month or two it will be opened for the public use and enjoyment.

WEDDING.
TANSLEY.

Wheeldon - Ludlam.

The wedding took place at Tansley on Saturday of Miss Lizzie Ludlam, of Tansley, and Mr R Wheeldon, of Matlock Bank. The bride was given away by her cousin, Mr F.Ludlam of Matlock. She wore a dress of Japanese silk, trimmed with lace and pearl trimming, and a cream toque, trimmed with orange blossoms and tips. The bridesmaids were Miss A.Ludlam, sister of the bride, and Miss M.Wheeldon, sister of the bridegroom, and they wore dresses of white muslin, trimmed with lace and black picture hats. Miss Nellie Barton wore a grey dress and picture hat. The best man was Mr H.Ludlam, brother of the bride. The presents included:-

Mrs Ludlam, kitchen dresser;
Mr H.Ludlam, dinner service;
Miss A.Ludlam, brass kerb and fireirons;
Mr G.Ludlam, carvers in case;
Mr and Mr H.Ludlam (Matlock Bank), pair of blankets;
Mr W.H.Ludlam (Rowsley), half-dozen knives and forks;

1 Nov 1902	2	THE FOOTBALL WORLD. Clay Cross Ivanhoes were at home on Saturday to Tansley. More often than not the Tansley men have accounted for the Clay Crossites, and though the latter on this occasion had the advantage of playing at home, the result was by no means a foregone conclusion. Yet the home men won by nine goals to none. The score scarcely presents a true reflex of the play, for each defence had much work to do. The winning forwards, however, were irresistible, and, led by their speedy centre-forward, Bradley, played havoc with the defence. Bradley himself was responsible for a quintette of goals, one of which was the result of a marvellous shot. Shaw scored two, and Hooper and Haywood one each. The latter was from a penalty. Next week Clay Cross Ivanhoes visit Blackwell.
